Motorcycle flips, Kinmount man is seriously injured

A Kinmount man suffered serious injuries and was transferred to Toronto General Hospital by air ambulance after he lost control of the motorcycle he was riding and struck a ditch Saturday night.

Klaus Berno Andreas, 27, was northbound on highway 519, when he attempted to secure a load on the back of the vehicle. He lost control of the motorcycle, went onto the east shoulder, skidded and rolled over. Andreas was tossed from the machine. The vehicle sustained $6,000 damage.

A 16-year old Wilberforce youth was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way after the car he was driving collided with another on highway 121 last Tuesday night.

Thomas Rivers was southbound in his vehicle on Wallings Road, apparently stopped at the intersection of the road and highway 121, and then drove into the path of another car driven by Joseph Dollo of Minden. The vehicles collided in the westbound lane.

Damage to Rivers' car is estimated at $1500, while the Dollo vehicle sustained $400 damage.

An 18-year old Haliburton man has been charged with being left of centre when the car he was driving collided with another on Drag Lake Road Wednesday afternoon.

Steven Main of Haliburton was charged after he was southbound in the vehicle, and met a car being driven northbound by John Dean of Fenelon Falls on Drag Lake Road. Dean pulled the vehicle to the right to avoid collision, but the Main car was too far to the left, and the two vehicles collided.

Damage to the Dean vehicle is estimated at $1200, while the Main vehicle sustained no damage.

A Haliburton man escaped injury when the car he was driving narrowly missed a deer and entered a ditch on Bobcaygeon Road Saturday morning.

Peter Hall, 28, said he was northbound on the road when a deer darted in front and grazed the car. Hall crossed the left shoulder of the road and entered the ditch, knocking over three guide posts.

Damage to the vehicle is estimated at $700.

A 38-year old Kinmount woman avoided injury when the car she was driving entered a ditch on highway 121 last Tuesday night.

Barbara McCluney was northbound on the highway, when she allowed the car to drift. The right wheels touched the right shoulder, pulling the vehicle into the ditch, where the right side of the car scraped rocks jutting from the bank.

Damage to the car was estimated at $1500.

Victoria Street School presented their annual spring festival at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School last Friday, and it was well attended by parents, sisters and brothers of the performers. There were acts for everyone, but one of the favourites was Diane Hagerman's grade three class, pictured above, who performed a fifties song called 'Shoopdedoop'. Each class from the school performed a different act.

Drillers warn consumers to be wary

Well drilling 'price war' continues to heat up

Cottagers and residents of Haliburton County can look for breaks in the cost of water well drilling this summer due to competitive prices by contractors, but consumers would be well advised to watch what they're paying for.

In a price war that seems to parallel the airlines fight for more passengers, the major contractors in the area have been forced to slice significant chunks from their rates.

The companies, Carl Baldwin Water Well Drilling of Kirkfield, Westell Drilling Limited of Gooderham, Giffin Well Drilling Limited of Haliburton and G. Hart and Sons of Fenelon Falls are the opponents, and the older, more experienced firms like Baldwin and Hart say that they are suffering because of it.

"It (the price war) has decreased our prices badly over the last four years," claims Carl Baldwin, whose company has passed through three generations of Baldwins over a span of 60 years. "But," he added, "I guess competition is good and we have to weather the storm."

As an established company in the area, Baldwin thinks his company can survive the price war, though not unscathed. He's losing money and he thinks the newer contractors have slashed costs so much that the only income he thinks they receive is for the depreciation on their equipment. As a result, he says, the quality of work is sometimes set aside, and "the corners are cut." The trend today is for the customer to hire a contractor on the basis of price, and the customer, and the reputable contractor, suffer because of it, says Baldwin.

Baldwin claims his company has had to repair poor or shoddy work firms have done. "Sometimes the work (of other contractors) shows up in some locations where experience would have kept the customer out of trouble," says Baldwin.

To avoid problems for the customer, he feels a bond should be put up by contractors who do work for the public, so "everybody could get a better deal." As the situation now stands, customers who have poor well work done will sometimes call Baldwin or other experienced contractors, and get advice on repairs or rebuilds.

"Sometimes poor workmanship by (another contractor) is the best ad we can get," Baldwin states. "Word travels fast" in small communities, and he thinks price may fall by the wayside if prospective customers hear that a contractor has done less than top notch work.

"In our business," Baldwin claims, "it's easy to be shafted by the contractor. At times he'll drill deeper than he really has to - some customers are starting to realize this."

Mrs. Ruth Hart, part-owner of the 33-year old business, Hart and Sons Well Drillers, and women's president of the Ontario Well Drillers Association, agrees, and says instances of poor quality work have taken place in Haliburton County, apparently unnoticed by the customer.

"We dug a well over in West Guilford, and were getting a half a gallon a minute (the legal limit to classify the drilling as a well). We developed it...we ended up with five gallons a minute at the end of the afternoon. The next day, another driller went in and the last we heard, he had dug down 450 feet. Now this is just unheard of."

Often, the customer will not complain since the operator convinces him the well is located in a dry zone. "The people just don't know," said Mrs. Hart.

Mrs. Hart says she has heard of instances where the contractor will pour water down the hole to convince the customer water is being produced at the legal limit. But when the pump is hooked up some time after the well is dug, and water is not produced, the customer simply thinks the well went dry or wasn't dug far enough. This "trick" is sometimes used by disreputable contractors who have several jobs to go to in one day, Mrs. Hart claims. The customer calls someone else in to finish the well, and the firm's "no water, no pay" policy is legal.

Because the other firms will often charge around $10 a foot to drill, good jobs better handled by experienced drillers are getting harder to find, said Mrs. Hart.

"We're losing work because of it...there's no two ways about it. 'I'd say we're losing at least 50 percent of our business...we lost five jobs in one week.' The charge per foot has dropped from $20 right down to $14 in the last year, she said.

Dennis Debler, who operates Westell Drilling Limited in Gooderham, has been in the business now for three seasons, and feels the quality of his work is comparable to any of the other more experienced drillers in the area. He calls himself a "renegade", because his prices per foot are substantially lower than most drillers. As far as cutting corners to save on costs, Debler sternly denies any such actions.

"The only reason I can get by on this $10 and $12 a foot is by a high footage. And the only way I can get that is I work normally six months of the year, seven days a week, 15 hours a day, by myself."

Wintario funding approved, work to begin on Head Park

Work is expected to begin within the next two weeks on the first phase of Head Lake Park in Haliburton Village.

Plans for the park were completed last year by the planning firm of Campfens, Greer, Galloway. They called for a two phase construction, the first phase in the area south of the Drag River, and the second phase to cover the present Rotary Park area on the north side of the river.

Wintario has committed $140,000 to the project, with that amount to be matched by the municipality of Dysart et al, primarily through the use of labour and machinery. A further grant, which could total $25,000, is expected to come from the Ministry of Natural Resources under the Approved Parks program. The municipality will also match that grant on a one to one basis.

Bulk of the work on the park is expected to be done by crews employed by the municipality. Local contractors are also expected to be used to complete electrical, plumbing and some construction work.

Called for in the first phase are beams and retaining walls, leveling and grading of the site, sodding and seeding, construction of bridges, walkways, and a bandshell, and the completion of fountain with funds donated by Rex Boice.

Municipal officials say they are hopeful that the bulk of the work called for in first phase plans can be completed this year.

Stanhope airport is gearing up for the annual spring fly-in and airshow this weekend, and some members of the airport committee got together last weekend and organized a work party. Above, committee president Stan Moore, Pam Rolfe and Ella Gillies shine up Mr. Moore's plane for the big event.

Budget gives taxpayers 'breather'

Taxpayers in Anson, Hindon and Minden can expect tax bills up only 3 percent over last year's in the wake of the approval of council's budget for 1979. Slight increases in some areas of expenditure have been matched by minor cutbacks in others, resulting in an overall budget up less than $20,000 over actual 1978 expenditures of $1,391,518.

The total 1979 budget of $1,412,034 includes this year's education levy of $523,303, up approximately $33,000 over last year's levy, and the county levy of $111,522, up $500 from the 1978 actual county levy of $110,094.

Taxpayers in Minden village will face an additional 30 mill charge on this year's tax bill because of water and extension work in the village itself.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt said Monday that council went over the budget department by department in an effort to hold down increases in the municipal portion wherever possible.

"It was my idea from day one that there was enough fat in the budget that we ought to be able to go a year without an increase in taxes."

"We just worked at it to come out to zero...and the reason for it is that we just feel it's time we held the line to give people a breather."

The reeve said the budget held no surprises. "There's nothing exciting in the budget," he said. "We're just going to do the normal things."

Under the heading "members of council", the budget has been set at $18,600, including $14,500 for council salaries, identical to 1977 and 1978 actual expenditures. The 1979 estimated expenditure compares with actual 1978 council expenses of $18,303.

Despite some increase in salaries and other expenses falling under the administration category, the $76,263 council has budgeted for is up less than $150 from 1978 actual administration spending of $76,116. Main reason for the similarity between actual expenses last year and this year's projected spending is that election expenses of $5,132 last year do not appear in this year's budget.

Property expenses in the new budget are up close to 100 percent over 1978 estimates. The 1979 budget calls for spending of $26,012 under the category, compared with 1978 estimates of $13,832 and 1978 actual expenditures of $17,721.

A life dedicated to helping others

Betty Barnum

Betty Barnum works with the poor and ill of Malaysia

by Joe Banks

When she left Canada in 1974, Betty Barnum really didn't know what might lay ahead of her in the third world country of Malaysia. But as a missionary for the Salvation Army assigned to a small, central town named Batang Malaka, she knew she would certainly have her work cut out for her.

Now, five years have passed by, and the 36-year old Haliburton Village native knows, as she puts it, her purpose in life. As a Salvation Army captain, she made a commitment to herself, and "to the call of God", to help other people in another land less fortunate than her own.

Leaving Haliburton in 1963, she travelled extensively around Canada to Toronto, London, Windsor and Montreal, in preparation as an officer for her trip overseas. She left for England in 1974, where she studied midwifery for a year, adding a new dimension to her previous training as a registered nurse.

For a year, she worked in a medical clinic in Batang Malaka. There was only one doctor, who came just once a week, and Ms. Barnum had to operate the facility with one other nurse. Often, in the middle of the night, Ms. Barnum found herself called out to tend to an emergency somewhere in the village. The nearest hospital was 30 miles away and if a patient needed hospital care, it meant a drive over some of the roughest roads in the country. Fortunately, the vehicle they used was a sturdy one.

In addition to these medical responsibilities, Ms. Barnum became a general resource person in the community, and because she was white and a Salvation Army officer, she was highly respected. The medical facility became the centre of activity in Batang Malaka, both for the young and old.

"We did a lot of work with the kids," said Ms. Barnum, "and we always made sure the door was an open door." Some strange events occurred in the course of running the clinic. In one instance, which Ms. Barnum says she'll "never forget", a down-trodden and impoverished-looking man came to the clinic door very late at night. He said that "he wanted to come in and talk," which Ms. Barnum allowed him to do.

"For three hours he talked about his family and himself," said Ms. Barnum. During the conversation she decided the man needed psychiatric help. After a mix-up with the train schedule and where to go, the man was admitted into a hospital.

Problems and possibilities focus of attention at final Economic workshop

The potential and the pitfalls of economic development in Haliburton County was the theme of the final economic development workshop last Wednesday afternoon.

Local, provincial and federal politicians, Economic Development Commission members, and representatives of a number of provincial and federal ministries were on hand at Wig-A-Mog Inn to discuss five main areas of concern which surfaced in previous Development Commission workshops across the county.

The politicians and officials, along with commission members, interested citizens and members of the press, spent close to two hours in small groups discussing proposals for a pulp mill, log home construction facilities, problems of forest management, institutions, and the need for and availability of incentive programs.

Commission member Sinc Nesbitt, who has been a strong supporter of the pulp mill concept, told the meeting when it reconvened that a number of pros and cons had surfaced in group discussion of the idea. Main concerns against a pulp mill include potential pollution, opposition from cottage associations, a possible lack of water, and the overriding question of who would be prepared to invest in a mill in the area.

On the plus side, Nesbitt said, is the boost the mill would give the local economy through job creation, housing starts and spin-off to merchants. It would also encourage more productive use of local forest resources and could result in an overall improvement in area forest cover, he said.

The consensus of the group discussing the mill was that a feasibility study should be considered. Some government officials at the meeting however, expressed concern that an effective study for a project of the magnitude of a pulp mill could cost a million or more dollars. Nesbitt, who said he thought $100,000 might be a realistic figure for a preliminary study of the mill idea, suggested that if government subsidy was available for the study, "perhaps county council would agree" to contribute a portion of the cost.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearney reported on discussions about log home construction facilities and said the group felt "there is a very real possibility, with some encouragement, for that type of industry in our county."

Fearney said the industry could encompass a small mill to make prefabricated log homes, as well as the labour intensive log and timber joinery operation proposed by Gary Kenney at the initial commission workshop. Both operations, the group felt, would "fit well into the environment."

Reporting on forest management, commission chairman Glen Hodgson said the group concluded "it was a top priority item". Main areas of concern are the need for education on the subject, the need for management incen-

Roads around the county are receiving new paint jobs after a long and cold winter, and in some places, traffic is being delayed because of it. Motorists can take heart in the fact that the line painting will be over soon, and visibility of the centre lines will be much better. This truck was seen on highway 121, just west of Haliburton Village.

He said he would "swear" in front of his competition, or his customers that "my quality of work is as good as anyone else's I know of." He is critical of other drillers' remarks about each other, and about cheating the customer, or drilling deeper holes than necessary. Well drillers, Debler says, "will run down each other," to

"No hardship" council confirms

The council of Anson, Hindon and Minden has confirmed that "no undue hardship" will be caused by the construction of a new curling facility in the village. The decision came in response to a request from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation, which will also require a feasibility study to be completed before funding for the facility can be considered. Council supported the terms of reference of such a study, as presented at the meeting.

In other business, council passed a resolution calling on the provincial government to amend the Community Recreation Centres Act to include curling clubs for funding. Council will also request the support of the Association of Municipalities of Ontario in the recommendation.

The Rotary Club's request to construct change rooms in Rotary Park met with council's approval, with the provision that the location must meet that established in the Gull Island Master Plan.

The hourly pay of Helen Yake was increased 50 cents per hour effective May 1, 1979.

Final item on the agenda was the passing of a by-law to set the rates of taxation for 1979.

obtain the business, and lessen the reputation of other firms.

"Concerning the accusations as far as well drillers beating the public, I would say that in 99 percent of the cases, it's more accusation than truth. I don't think there's any bad well drillers, like people would tell you. They just don't last in the business."

But, Debler says he "knows that it goes on (disreputable work). No well driller would admit it even if he did. But up here, the amount per foot the customer pays has absolutely nothing to do with the quality of the work."

As a result, the customer will "get a bargain", says Debler, because the drillers attempt to lower footage costs as well as maintain a good standard of workmanship.

W. A. McCleanaghan, chief waterwell inspector with the Ministry of Environment in Toronto, which controls the licensing of drillers in the area, said there have been no complaints by area customers of poor well work. "I'm not aware of any problem in the Haliburton area of a critical or crucial nature at the moment, but we're certainly prepared to follow

Correction

In a story about a wage increase for the Minden firefighters in last week's paper, it was incorrectly stated that the firefighters will receive a wage increase to $10 the first hour of fighting fires, and $5 for the second hour by 1980.

In fact, the men will receive the increase this year, and will forgo new uniforms and radio equipment to make the raise possible.

The Echo regrets the error.

up any complaints from the public," said Mr. McCleanaghan.

The ministry advises the public to sign a contract with a well driller setting a designated depth for drilling. The driller should come to the customer if he wants to drill deeper, and this should be written into the contract, McCleanaghan said. Quite often, however, the driller will go ahead on the project with a "blanket" contract, and will drill as deep as he feels necessary.

Drillers will often go on drilling farther, McCleanaghan said, when "you've got a dry hole, and you're down 150 feet, and you feel that you may get water in the next ten feet, you're very hesitant to stop. This goes on and on sometimes and you wind up much deeper than you anticipate."

"Drillers are often reluctant, I find, to leave a dry hole. It hurts them in the area, and they would almost sooner give an owner a rebate, and go on and get a successful well."

Government legislation calls for the owner of the well to be supplied with a copy of the water well record. In it are recommended intake settings for the pump and installation advice. Most of the other legislation pertains to sanitary well construction and pollution controls.

"Our own legislation is designed around the quality of the workmanship of the well itself rather than the contract area such as price charged, and methods of selecting terms," says McCleanaghan.

For the consumer, in case of complaint, the recourse is simple. File the grievance to the Ministry of Environment, wait for the result of the investigation, and hope to get repaid, or compensated.

With the number of wells drilled in the county each summer, the business is quickly growing, but as more contractors move into the area, and with more competitive prices, it's not likely anyone will make large amounts of money from the increased demand. Says Baldwin, "five years ago, there was a great demand for drillers, and most drill operators saw the demand and began their own business. But the demand fell back, so now we're stuck with more contractors than work."

The answer is simple, he maintains. Just shop and ask around.

Deputy reeve, councillor appointed in Glamorgan

Ken McGuire was appointed deputy reeve of Glamorgan Township, May 23 at a special meeting of council.

McGuire's appointment fills the position left vacant May 15 following the resignation of then deputy reeve Chesley Noseworthy. Noseworthy cited personal reasons for his resignation.

Also at the May 23 meeting, council voted to appoint

Glen Graham to the position of councillor to fill the seat made vacant by the appointment of McGuire as deputy reeve.

Graham was an unsuccessful candidate for council in the November municipal election. He polled 103 votes, and was just edged out for the final seat on council by McGuire, who polled 115 votes.

and was indeed found to have mental problems.

Some time later, the same man sent a large sum of money to the Salvation Army. He claimed that he was rich, and could afford the donation. After some difficulties over the gift with members of the family, it was found the man was telling the truth - he could afford the donation.

"You just never knew at the knock of the door what you were going to encounter next."

She stayed in Batang Malaka for about a year, and then worked for "a few months" at Ipoh, where a children's centre was located. Here she stayed until she was transferred to Singapore.

She expects to return there for one more four-year term after her leave is over.

She ran and still runs a children's home for orphans, semi-orphans, and children whose parents cannot afford to properly care for them. The building in which the children are housed is in poor condition, Ms. Barnum said and government authorities have agreed a new facility has to be built. A project is currently underway for the construction of the centre, though Ms. Barnum says she "has this funny feeling" that the older building hasn't been torn down yet, for it was she who always seemed to push or persuade the people involved in the project to begin work.

Government approval for the project has been given, and funds for it are being obtained.

The Rotary Club of Haliburton expressed interest in the project and Ms. Barnum's work in Malaysia recently after she spoke to the club and gave members "a general idea" of the kind of work she has done, and will be doing.

In connection with the International Year of the Child, the local club decided to donate $2000 toward the work Ms. Barnum is involved in. She has also applied for a more substantial grant from the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA). Ms. Barnum will be leaving Canada once more on June 14. She will take two weeks vacation in Finland before heading back to Singapore, where she plans to spend one more four-year term. Leaving Haliburton again will not be easy, and she thought has left her "in conflict, in a way". Ms. Barnum says her mother is ill, and she feels, "when you come home, you get settled with your old friends and so on. But," she admits, "there is a very strong feeling that Singapore is my part of the world."

Sadly, she says her niece and nephew will be grown up by the time she returns again. But she feels she has received compensation "in knowing I'm easing some of the world's ills."

It was band night last Thursday night at Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School, and aspiring musicians both locally and out of town had the chance to display their talents, as these four young men are doing. Grade seven and eight bands were featured, as well as bands from Archie Stouffer Public School and Maple Ridge Senior Public School.

A, H & M council passes '79 budget

Main increases in the property expenses category are for hydro, water and sewers, at $8,100 up approximately $4,000 over last year, and for maintenance, where $6,500 has been allotted compared to 1978 actual maintenance expenses of $2,393. Included in the 1979 estimate, along with other maintenance work to municipal buildings, is the planned brickwork of the municipal office, according to reeve Nesbitt.

In the category of financial and other expenses, the new budget calls for expenditures of $43,700, up from 1978 actual expenditures of $20,977.

The total of all expenditures in the General Government category has been set at $164,575, up from last year's actual expenditure of $138,917.

Under the general heading of Protection to Persons and Property, council has budgeted $29,763 for fire department expenses, a decrease of nearly $5,000 from last year's actual spending of $34,363. Main reason for the decline is a drop in supplies and equipment spending from $8,121 last year to an estimated $2,558 this year.

Costs for by-law enforcement have been set at $20,000, very close to last year's actual expenditure of $19,771.

Total costs under Protection to Persons and Property have been estimated at $49,763 in the new budget, down from last year's actual spending of $54,134.

Costs for road maintenance are also expected to be down slightly this year, to an estimated $318,484 from last year's actual road spending of $325,446. Main reason for the decline, despite increases in other expenditures under the road category, is a drop in supply and equipment expenditure, from $114,225 last year to an estimated $53,172 this year.

Traffic control and parking costs are expected to be $6,500 this year, including $1,500 for signs and traffic lights, up from actual 1978 spending of $4,074.

Street light costs, at $12,750, are expected to remain almost identical to last year.

Environmental services costs, which include pollution control and garbage disposal, have been set at $13,150, up from spending of $10,581 last year.

Health services costs are expected to be up close to $12,000 this year, from 1978 actual of $41,385 to 1979 estimates of $53,010. Main reason for the increase is a rise in salaries for ambulance personnel, from $32,753 to $40,417 and in supply and equipment costs, from $4,619 to $8,235.

Social and family services costs are also expected to increase from $20,254 last year to $25,500 this year. At the centre of the increase is a rise in general assistance costs, from $18,566 last year to an estimated $23,000, the same amount that was projected in the 1978 estimates.

Recreation and cultural services are expected to cost $113,130, up from 1978 actual spending of $103,268. The new budget includes a $5000 reserve fund for capital equipment which was not included last year.

Last year's municipal deficit of $51,143, which was carried over from 1977, is expected to be reduced to $9,059 this year.

The total municipal portion of this year's budget has been set at $777,209, down from actual spending last year of $792,839, including the 1977 deficit.

The budget was passed at a special meeting of council last week.

tives and controls (including by-laws) and the need for industry to make use of low quality wood, Hodgson said.

On the proposal for a centralized maple syrup evaporator plant, Hodgson said the main obstacle was funding. A plant to boil off the production of 20,000 taps could cost between $80,000 and $120,000, he estimated.

A meeting is expected to take place on the matter that will include the commission, government officials, the Haliburton County Livestock Producers Association, and local maple syrup producers in an effort to find a sponsor for the plant.

On the topic of institutions, committee member Barbara Bolin said the group felt the commission should press the provincial government to transfer more funds from universities to community colleges. Increased funding could mean more programs and greater involvement of the community in courses offered by the northern campus of Sir Sandford in Haliburton Village.

The group also felt private educational facilities should be encouraged to locate in the county.

On the matter of a correctional institution, which had been proposed for the area at an earlier workshop, Bolin said the group felt it should be an assessment centre rather than an institution in which inmates remain for years. Two municipalities have already indicated interest in such a facility, she said. Final point was the group's consensus that the area MP and MPP should press the governments to consider locating offices in the area.

Commission member John Hogg reported that discussions on incentives revealed a number of government programs which are available to help set up small industries in the area, including a program that would permit the formation of a small business development corporation. The group felt the Chamber of Commerce and the commission should publicize the program, and act as coordinators to get information on corporations that have been formed in other parts of the province.

Main problem with industrial expansion in the area, the group felt was the quality of roads in the area. Hogg said the consensus was that something would have to be done to improve transportation in the area if industries are to be attracted.

The meeting was the last in the initial series scheduled by the commission.

Correction

In last week's Echo, in a story pertaining to the construction of the new curling club in Minden, it was stated that president Jim Garbutt said the new building would be "built apart" from the community centre so the club would not be responsible to the municipality for running it.

In fact, Mr. Garbutt said the new facility will be attached to the centre, but the curling club does not want it to be controlled by the community centre recreation board.

The Echo regrets any inconvenience or embarrassment this mistake may have caused.

Most buses in the province to be inspected MTC says

Ontario's mandatory school bus inspection program has been expanded to include most categories of buses in the province, according to Transportation and Communications Minister James Snow.

The program, effective October 31, 1979, is designed to further ensure that all buses operating on Ontario streets and highways are in good mechanical condition, the Minister said.

It is based on the existing school bus inspection program, which is one of the most comprehensive in North America.

Under the program, a "bus" is defined as a motor vehicle with dual wheels or tandem rear axles, other than those fitted with a truck or delivery body, designed to carry 10 or more passengers.

It includes all buses operated by or under contract to a municipality or transit authority; buses licensed as public vehicles under The Public Vehicles Act; and similar vehicles used for the transportation of persons in wheelchairs, regardless of the designed seating capacity.

"In effect," Snow said, "the new inspection program covers nearly all bus categories, including buses privately owned and operated by colleges and universities, church and service groups, sports organizations and industry."

Snow said the inspections must be carried out by a registered licensed mechanic at one of the 9,000 licensed inspection stations in the province, or at licensed company-owned facilities.

Vehicles which meet the required standards will be issued two stickers - a safety inspection sticker valid for six months, and a special brake inspection sticker valid for 12 months. Both must be displayed in full view on the inner surface of the windshield.

"Ministry inspectors will carry out random audit inspections of the 8,000 vehicles included in the program to ensure compliance," Snow said.

Buses carrying passengers after October 31 of this year and without valid safety and inspection stickers will be removed from service.

A sound beginning

Last Wednesday, the Haliburton County Economic Development Commission met for the final workshop of its initial series. While the first three sought input from the public, last week's workshop gave commission members and invited guests an opportunity to take a critical look at the proposals that were heard in earlier workshops, and to discuss the complexities of those proposals at length. It was a valuable exercise, not only because it brought commission members together with representatives of various government departments, but because it provided a summary of the major problems facing the county in the near future.

At the core of discussions from the outset of the workshop series has been the belief that the traditional prop of the tourist and cottage industry is no longer sufficient to support an inflation ridden and increasingly stagnating economy. People in Haliburton County have known for a number of years now, that the tourist industry in itself was not sufficient to support county businesses on a year round basis. The effects of the economic reality have taken time to be felt, but there is little doubt in anyone's mind that the '70's have put pressures on local businesses that were not felt in the more buoyant and optimistic 60's. While inroads can still be made into improving the local tourist industry, it is unlikely that changes can come quickly enough, or can be extensive enough to make tourism regain the position it once had at the centre of the area's economy.

With the pressure of inflation and increased competition for jobs, it is no longer possible for an area to remain as it was in decades past. Steady growth is necessary just to keep pace with current economic trends. The concern for the future that prompted the injection of new life into the idea of an economic development commission demonstrated that area politicians and business people have recognized the need for growth. And last Wednesday's workshop proved that growth can only come through a cooperative effort between the three levels of government and the business community.

A number of the proposals which came to the commission during its workshop series may well prove to be possible. Certainly the consensus at last week's meeting was that they deserved further consideration. When they are examined thoroughly, a few of the proposals may prove to be unworkable. And no doubt those who initiated the proposals will be discouraged if that proves to be the case.

But they, and everyone else in Haliburton County, can take heart from the fact that something is being done about the future. The commission's first series of workshops has shown that a large number of people are concerned about the course life in Haliburton County will take in the near future.

If subsequent workshops are as productive and thought provoking as the initial workshops proved to be, the future may just be a little brighter than it might have seemed just a few short months ago.

Caveat emptor

In recent months, people in Haliburton County and the surrounding area employing a well driller have found some exceptional bargains. A price "war" between the four drilling companies operating in the area has meant substantial savings over previous rates for drilling. But the "war" has brought with it a number of accusations from one driller or another that the competition may not do the job as carefully as it ought to be done, and that consumers are occasionally suffering as a consequence. A check with the Ministry of the Environment reveals that no complaints have been laid against any of the drillers operating in the area, so the accusations and counter accusations may in fact be without foundation. But there is an important principle underlying the drillers' comments, and that principle is that the buyer of anything, whether it is a well or a tool or a new coat of paint for a house, must take the time to find out what he or she is really buying.

While the vast majority of manufacturers, merchants and tradesmen are honest, and strive to provide good service, quality merchandise and careful workmanship, there are always those who would seek to provide less than they promise. And the onus must be on the buyer to see that honesty and quality are present.

Contracts should be read carefully, and extravagant claims viewed with a healthy scepticism and a measure of caution. If something sounds too good to be true, it probably isn't true.

That doesn't mean, of course, that there aren't bargains to be had, whether it is in wells or consumer goods. But by being cautious, and by taking the time to check out claims and enquire about performance, consumers are likely to be spared the inconvenience that can come from making the wrong choice.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing you regarding the front page story in the Echo dated May 30, 1979 about Minden's new curling facility. Unfortunately, when I read the article, there were portions which led me to believe your reporter wasn't attending the same Anson, Hindon and Minden council meeting that I was.

It is a large enough task to take on a project such as ours without having myself and others quoted incorrectly. A prime example of this is where I was supposed to have said "The new building would be built apart from the Community Centre so the club would not be responsible to the Municipality for running it." What I actually said was, the new building will be attached to the existing Community Centre, but the Curling Club does not want it to become controlled by the Community Centre Recreation Committee board. The Curling Club would like to continue operating with its own Executive Committee as it has in the past at the old curling club."

I hope you can appreciate my concern that stories are reported accurately, as any errors could surely jeopardize our project and the credibility of our executive. Thank you.

Yours truly,
Jim Garbutt,
President,
Minden Curling Club

To the Editor:

The threat of separation has been allowed to escalate from a "non entity" to a "viable force" under Mr. Trudeau's "divide and conquer" doctrine.

Such nefarious doctrines have no place in Canadian politics! It even used to be alien to the "original" Liberal party, before they became converted to "Trudeauism".

The Canadian people must never allow this infamous abuse of power to rear its ugly head in politics again.

Adieu Mr. Trudeau.

To the Editor:

My experience confirms the need for better x-ray equipment in Minden hospital.

Because of persistent chest congestion I was x-rayed there last fall. In later consultation in Toronto I submitted the x-ray to Western hospital specialists. Due to the poor quality of the x-ray, it was necessary to repeat the x-ray procedure. This x-ray showed details which could not be seen on the Minden plate, allowing specific treatment to be given promptly.

Yours truly,
D. D. Brown,

To the Editor:

It comes as no surprise that the "Review" of the recent play "Our Town", in your May 30th edition, was written unsigned.

Perhaps anonymity prevents the proving or providing of the "professional critic's" credentials in reviewing a production staged by a group of local people with a wealth of talent but lacking in "professional" experience.

As to the description "adequate performing", by two of the leading characters; I beg to differ.

As one who witnessed their efforts I have nothing but praise for them. Their performances and their concern as young people to become involved and give so freely of their time for others' enjoyment is commendable. I would hope your damning does not dampen their enthusiasm.

Perhaps "Adequate reviewing" would be an apt description of your article.

Yours truly,
June Phillips,
Kinmount, Ontario

As others see it

As if Muskoka did not have enough problems with the gloomy prospect of acid lakes and fish with high mercury content, along comes the "remote" possibility that the district might be chosen as a site for a nuclear waste experiment.

The "ifs" are many, and no doubt the politicians will tell us it will never happen, but somehow these "impossible propositions", which come on the scene now and then, often become a reality before we know it.

The fact that Muskoka would even appear on a map issued by Atomic Energy of Canada is enough to shock most local people. Even the remotest chance that some exploratory work might be undertaken here would be enough to cause panic.

The first announcements that some fish were known to contain unacceptable mercury did affect the tourist industry a few years back. The fearful prospect of "dying" lakes did not seem to scare away tourists, but it certainly took away from the idea that Muskoka was a land of fresh air and clean lakes.

If one added to this the fact someone is about to test the rock as a possible site for nuclear waste, Muskoka's days would be numbered.

Now is the time to react, not when the exploration crew arrives on the site. The committees, which are in their infancy, should make sure that the voice of the district is heard "loud and clear". We don't want to be any part of a nuclear waste experiment now or ever.

Some of the local businessmen around the county have been telling me that business this spring just doesn't seem to be up to par. In other words, it's not going to break any records. Some of this could be the fact that there just doesn't seem to be the construction work going on that there was in previous years. As one businessman told me the other day that there just doesn't seem to be any big projects underway this year.

Renovations to the Guild Station (the former CNR station in Haliburton) are coming right along and it should look very attractive when it's completed. The old Rotary Club shed next to the Guild Station has been torn down and everything seems to be in motion for the beginning of the new park on Head Lake.

We have here in our possession some of the old Haliburton County Echo newspapers that go back to 1952 and 1953. This was the era when Walter Noice, Berkeley Feir and myself jointly owned the newspaper. In looking back over some of these issues I found some of the news items to be very interesting and it shows how some things from that time have changed while others remain the same. Some of the editorials were very interesting and I hope in the not too distant future, to put some of the shorter editorials of that day in my column. I know that you will enjoy them.

It will soon be show time and final plans are being made for the 3rd annual Highland Home and Vacation Show, which will be held at Haliburton on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 15, 16 and 17. To make room for the many booths that will be at the show, it will be held at the Dysart Community Centre and the Haliburton Curling Club. Any merchants interested in obtaining a booth please contact Pat Kennedy at 457-1771. Make your plans now to attend this most interesting show and all proceeds will go to Cystic Fibrosis and other community projects.

The Haliburton Legion Pipe Band have been practicing every Monday evening at the Legion Hall in Haliburton in preparation for the many events they will be playing at this summer. We noticed them marching and playing at the L.C.B.O. parking lot on Monday evening and they sounded pretty good. I noticed that some members have left the band to seek employment in other centres, but its good to see some younger members joining the group. The best of luck to the band in their upcoming engagements.

Here in the Highlands of Haliburton we are blessed with beautiful lakes, rivers, streams, forests and beautiful countryside. But the big question that should be in everyone's mind is how long are we going to keep it this way. It's up to us whether we want to keep it beautiful or throw litter all over the place and make it a real mess. How easy it is for all of us to throw papers, boxes and such items on the streets and roads or in the bush when in most cases litter containers are not too far away. Just this week I noticed in two places just outside of Haliburton some garbage that had been strewn along the highway and it didn't look very good for the passerby, possibly the person or persons on their way to the dump were unaware that some of their garbage had fallen off on the way. How long, we ask, can this go on before we have real pollution problems. Here in this county each municipality has its own garbage disposal dumps and these are the places to put your garbage, not along the highway or in litter containers. Take it to the dump. It is high time that the offenders were caught and brought up before the courts and shown that this is the wrong thing to do. The Ontario government are constantly reminding us to keep Ontario beautiful. Well, it is just about time we started to clear up this matter right in our own back yards.

Last week seemed to be the time for fishermen in Haliburton to take a vacation and get in a little fishing. About nine men took off for a fishing expedition in Quebec while another group took two or three days off to get in a little fishing up around the Kinnis Lake area.

Keep in mind that this coming Sunday, June 10th is the Stanhope Airport Air Show. Make plans to attend this outstanding event. You'll be glad you did.

The St. George's Annual Parish Family Picnic will be held at Halimar this coming Sunday, June 10th from 2:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Everyone is asked to bring along their own food, men's dessert competition. Come and enjoy the swimming, tennis, horseshoes, ping-pong and children's races followed by Galilean Vesper Service by the lake.

In looking over one of our newspapers of June 7th, of last year I noticed in my column at that time that there was a short article that said for all those who like the real hot weather, they had their prayers answered as we have been going through quite a heat wave for most of the month of May. Well, this might have been the way it was last year but not in May 1979. We had a little bit of warm weather but most of the time it was cool and more rain than usual for May.

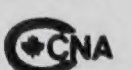

Anger is often more harmful than the injury that caused it. When Leonardo da Vinci was working on his painting "The Last Supper", he became angry with a certain man. Losing his temper he lashed the other fellow with bitter words and threats. Returning to his canvas he attempted to work on the face of Jesus, but was unable to do so. He was so upset he could not compose himself for the painstaking work. Finally he put down his tools and sought out the man and asked his forgiveness. The man accepted his apology and Leonard was able to return to his workshop and finish painting the face of Jesus.

When Mrs. Phurness Watt of Haliburton she happened to pick up a one cent coin made in 1882 with Queen Victoria's picture on it. This is certainly a valuable item for a coin collector.

Royally Campaign Misfires

In this column you often read of what we feel is well founded criticism of various government ministries and departments. On the other hand, every so often they come up with a real gem, and in all fairness, we will back it and sing its praises to the world. So it has been with the Ministry of Industry & Tourism's "We Treat You Royally" campaign. When the Ministry introduced it last year we were sold on its merits and said so. This year they have expanded on that solid base and among other things introduced a series of one-day seminars to insure that all those meeting the public actually were treating them royally. Seminars were designed not only for those directly involved in the tourism industry but for every person who meets the public in the course of their work. Staff from the ministry provides instruction at these seminars at no cost to us.

When the Chamber was made aware of the availability of this service there were five dates available for May and June. The board of directors immediately decided to book all five dates in order to make this extremely worthwhile course available to as many people in the county as possible. It was anticipated that the two early dates, May 17 and June 5, would be most attractive to the merchants and service industries, and the later dates of June 18, 20, and 21 more suitable for the resort operators. The Chamber was able to arrange locations for all five events, with the only cost being $4.00 per person to cover two coffee breaks and a lunch.

The first seminar held at the Wagon Wheel on May 17 had only a total of 12 registered, and only seven actually showed up. The second seminar was to have been held this week, June 5 at the Orange Hall in Haliburton. As of last Friday the registrations for this one were so low that it had to be cancelled. We have talked to many of the merchants personally, and provided information at the High School in order to create more awareness of this program and the response has been extremely disappointing.

Many seem to feel they are already doing an adequate job and can't spare the time or the money to improve on that. On the other hand, Vince Conaghan, of Stedman's in Haliburton, who has already gained a reputation as a progressive merchandiser, has registered a total of 10 of his employees at his own expense for these seminars. The next three seminars on June 18 at Wig-A-Mog, June 20 at the Harcourt Community Hall, and June 21 at Mr. Fogg's will be held. There has been enough advance registration for them to assure that, but there is still room for more participants. To register simply call the Chamber office at 286-1760 and let us know how many will be attending any of the above sessions.

If we are going to say "We Treat You Royally" let's be sure we really mean it.

What's New in Wilberforce

We finally broke out of the office this week to get over to Wilberforce and look in on some of the considerable changes taking place there recently. We met Glen Storey, who along with his wife Lynn, are now operating, "Glen's 10 to 10" which indicates a convenience store that are open those particular hours, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. The attractive store is housed in what previously was Derek Smith's Pine Furniture Shop and showroom. Glen is an accomplished merchandiser having previously operated a large hardware store in Burlington. They are looking forward to the simpler life in this friendly community and are obviously prepared to bend over backwards to serve their new found neighbours.

Just along the road and directly across from Agnew's present store is "BJ's Food Take-Out". BJ's stands for Ben and Joyce Waterton who are no strangers in this community. They are the former owner operators of Elephant Lake Lodge. They have done a marvellous job of renovating this old building and are providing hungry residents and travellers with quite a wide ranging menu which includes broasted chicken, and will soon include pizza. We had a very limited chat with Bernie and things just got too busy, much to his delight.

You may note above that we mentioned "Agnew's present store", since they are now preparing to build a brand new store on a new location just west of the present one. The new building will be two storeys with two entrance levels so that grocery shopping may be done on an upper level with a hardware section below. Their

One thing that was peculiar, among many others, in the recent federal election, was the shortage of female power. Where was it?

Oh, yes, I know. Thousands of women were out working for their local candidate, probably far harder than their male counterparts, or their reluctantly-dragged-along husbands.

And, yes, I know the NDP made a big bid for the women's vote by demanding all sorts of things for women - which already exist, except in the minds and businesses and hearts of the male chauvinistic empire that still rules this country.

Where was the women's movement? Where were the women candidates? Where was the surge of feminist emotion and rhetoric that could have swept the election? Did you hear the faint sound of a fizzle, as I did?

True, there was a scattering of women candidates, mostly, except for the few cabinet ministers, in ridings where they didn't have a hope in Hades of winning.

But when it comes to women in politics, this country is still in the boondocks, and election results show it.

What's wrong with the women on this continent? They talk a lot, but when it comes down to voting, they cast either: with their husbands, "Because I don't know anything about politics," for Pierre Trudeau because Margaret has deserted him or against Trudeau because she has declared her independence; for Joe Clark because he seems a bit slow and "needs a chance" or against him because he has jowls and no sense of humour; for Ed Broadbent because he seems like a younger, or older, brother who speaks out and is cute, in a sort of homely way.

Where in the holy world are the incisive, emotional, hard-thinking, straight-forward-looking women of The Movement? They've turned into a bunch of plain old women, that's where.

In the mysterious East, where women are supposed to cringe around in veils, subservient, waiting for a kick in the rear or another impregnation by the macho male, we have had a prime minister in Sri Lanka (Ceylon to you old-timers) and India. Both have been tough, charming, ruthless.

In the not-so-mysterious Middle East, we had a tough charming and ruthless Golda Meir, who ran one of the most

by MPP John Ekins

Although 67 percent more drivers and passengers died on Ontario roads in the first three months of this year than in the same period last year the Minister of Transportation has told the Legislature that he can't say "with any degree of accuracy" why the increase took place. The Attorney-General has stated he won't wait to find out why the number of traffic deaths has increased before asking Cabinet for $3.5 million to hire more provincial police officers. Last week he told a reporter he would ask Cabinet for $500,000 to hire 150 more Ontario Provincial Police officers. However, he subsequently said the cost probably would exceed $3.5 million. A first class constable earns an annual salary of $21,700. Opposition Leader Stuart Smith has expressed some doubt about the latest fatal accident figures, and their implications, since the Minister of Transportation has said the fatal accident rates are often cyclical and "don't indicate a hard and fast trend."

The AG's "get tough" blitz intended to reduce the number of accidents will include increased enforcement of three year old seatbelt legislation which "will begin at once" with police officers laying "more charges instead of issuing warnings...since every Ontario motorist must now be aware of the legislation and its obvious benefits." OPP officers will "be on the lookout for flagrant traffic infractions, whatever their assignment" and more unmarked cars will be used to catch speeders and lane-hoppers on provincial highways. The number of aircraft patrolling high-accident stretches of provincial highways will double from three to six. A Highway Traffic Safety Co-ordinating Council comprised of government and police authorities, will "seek long-term solutions" to the highway death problem. Discussions will take place to decide whether speeding fines should be increased and administered uniformly for all vehicle moving violations.

Meanwhile, provincial judges have been asked to impose stiffer fines for violators, and Crown Attorneys have been told to keep "public concern about safety in mind" when dealing with impaired or dangerous driving and criminal negligence. OPP commissioner Harold Graham said his staff has not had time to analyze the accident statistics beyond noting that the number of multiple fatalities has increased and there are 4 percent more cars on the roads this year.

Ministry to inspect boats and marinas

With the return of boating season, Environment Ontario inspectors will be examining boats for proper sewage facilities. Marinas will also be visited to ensure that pump-out services and litter containers are provided.

Ontario's regulations banned the dumping of sewage and garbage from pleasure crafts into the province's waterways in 1969. The inspectors will be checking to ensure that all toilet-equipped boats are fitted with holding systems or incineration devices that can only be legally emptied at marina pump-out stations.

Owners and operators of boats found to be in compliance with provincial requirements will be issued a sticker to show their boats have passed inspection. Owners and operators of boats that do not pass the inspection can be issued a summary conviction ticket, and under Ontario's Boating Regulations, are liable to fines of up to $5,000 on the first offence and $10,000 on subsequent offences.

All pleasure boats in Ontario waters are subject to this regulation.

HHSS athletes honoured at banquet

Most valuable players on Haliburton Highlands Secondary School athletic teams were honoured last Thursday night when the school held an awards banquet. Honoured were, front, from left, Paul Madden, Mike Hatkoski, Tim Davies, Margie Newton

The extramural athletic program at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School closed out the year with the athletic banquet at the Haliburton Legion, Thursday, May 31.

The banquet is held to honour those who won championships during the year, as well as all of those who participated in the athletics program. All students who were on extramural teams were invited - 132 athletes and 10 staff were in attendance.

The award system at HHSS is designed to recognize participation. Students receive gold seals for taking part in major extramural sports and silver seals for participating in minor sports or the intramural program. Championship seals in both areas are awarded to winning teams. The accumulation of seals can lead to the awarding of minor and major awards. All students at the banquet were presented with the seals they had earned. Presentations were made by the student heads of the athletic associations, Heather Thompson and Paul Madden.

District team champions were honoured by the formal presentation of trophies won during the year. Track and Field - Kawartha West and Kawartha 'A'; Badminton - Kawartha West; Curling - Kawartha West; Junior Girls Volleyball - Kawartha 'A'; Football - Kawartha 'A'; and Archery - Kawartha.

In addition to award presentations, the evening featured the National Film Board production, "I'll Go Again". This excellent film showed five Canadian athletes preparing for and competing in the 1976 Olympic Games. The film illustrates that the hard work, sacrifice and dedication are worth it to the athletes, even if they fail to win a medal.

The final part of the program recognized individual excellence with the presentation of Most Valuable Player awards to team members who had made the most effective contribution to their teams: Sr. Basketball, Marlene Darby; Jr. Basketball, Shelly Thompson; Midget Basketball, Nancy Shipley, Jr. Volleyball, Lisa Dunham; Midget Volleyball, Kathy Mosgrove; gymnastics, Val Anderson; Badminton, Heather Kennedy and Tim Davies; Track and Field, Margie Newton and Mike Hatkoski; Soccer, Alex Lopez; Curling, Paul Madden; Junior Volleyball, Mike Hatkoski; Senior Volleyball, Mike Iles; and Football, Ed Roberts, Tim Davies and Paul Watson.

The program concluded with the highlight of the evening - the announcement of the Athlete of the Year award winners. The girls' award went to Margie Newton, a Year 2 student who had been on four extramural teams and participated in all intramural sports. The boys' award was won by Tim Davies, a Year 3 student who had also been a member of four extramural teams and an active supporter of intramural sports.

The presentation of the Minor and Major awards saw these students honoured again. Margie Newton became the first girl and the first Year two student to earn her minor award. Minor awards were also presented to Tim Davies and Steve Bishop.

For the first time in the three years the award system has been used, a Major Award was presented - this was awarded to Tim Davies.

New squash executive elected

by Barb Pierce

After its first full year of operation the Highlands Squash Club held an annual meeting and banquet Saturday June 2. During the year interest in squash has grown dramatically and the club now has 100 members. During the meeting the 1979-80 executive was elected. John Fitzgerald will be president, Faye Schoenhoffer, vice president and Glen Carter will continue as secretary treasurer.

Outgoing president, McKay Brydon thanked many of those who had been active during the 1978-79 season. As this had been a time of rapid growth many members had been called upon to help out and have contributed to the club's success. Mr. Brydon also thanked Mrs. Young of Hyland Communications who has been so efficient and pleasant while organizing court bookings.

The new president, Mr. Fitzgerald, then outlined plans for the coming year. He said he hoped that the children of present members and students would become more involved in the sport. There will, therefore, be more emphasis on the youth program.

Since many members have improved over the last year, he felt it was time to initiate interclub competition with those in Peterborough and Lindsay. In addition, some members will be encouraged

To start off with, the Guild of Fine Arts has a new post office box number: Box 912, Haliburton, and a new telephone number: 457-2330. Please write these numbers in your directory!

The first public gathering to be held in our new "Rails End Station Gallery" will be on Thursday, June 7 at 8:00 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to meet Dixie Augustein and see her slides of her trip to Japan for the World Craft Conference held in September, 1978. Dixie has for many years been interested in art and crafts and is very knowledgeable in weaving, having studied under Robert Cawood and many other professional weavers. We are very fortunate to have had a Haliburton resident attend this conference and agree to share it with us. Plan to attend!

We invite you to attend the annual meeting to be held Tuesday, June 26, at 8:00 p.m. at the Gallery. The directors have been revising the by-laws of the Guild. These proposed amendments are available at the office for you to review now; otherwise you will receive a copy at the annual meeting. A proxy vote may be signed before the annual meeting date if you wish to do so. Please call 457-2330 for more information if you wish it. Our nominating committee is presenting the following slate of directors for election: Barbara Peel, Mary Wallace, Lorne Coburn, Ruth Gorrie, Marion Langdon, Marilyn Stouffer, Shirley Rydman, Donna Monk, Patti Smith, Judy Chapman, Judy Phillips, Jack Denholm, Miriam Lewis, and a rug hooking group representative. Others may be nominated from the floor.

Senior Citizen week declared

June 17 - 23

For the ninth consecutive year the Ministry of Community and Social Services is dedicating the week of June 17 - 23 to recognizing the many varied contributions of the senior citizens of Ontario.

The theme of this year's week is "Celebrate Living." One of the highlights of the week in this area will be the "over 70's dinner", an annual event at Hyland Crest Home, where the ninth dinner will be held Tuesday, June 19.

All residents of Haliburton County are welcome to attend the dinner, along with their spouses or an escort. The dinner is sponsored by all the municipalities in the county, and is put on by the staff of Hyland Crest with the help of volunteers.

Administrator Sid Brown said this week that the staff and residents of the home are looking forward to seeing as many seniors as possible out to the dinner Tuesday, June 19 at 5:30 p.m. Those who plan to attend are asked to call 286-2140 by June 14.

This young tyke couldn't get close enough to the music, so he decided to get a seat at floor level, at the band night held at Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School Thursday night. About 100 parents attended the event.

Trent-Severn news

Recent heavy rains across the watershed, and especially over the reservoir area, have maintained the storage at about 98 percent. Flows from the Gull River watershed were reduced to about one-half of last week's flow in order to conserve water, while the flows from the Burnt River watershed have been nearly doubled to prevent lakes from overflowing. This is an indication of how differently two watersheds which are side by side can act. Surplus water is slowly being released from the Kawartha and from Lakes Simcoe-Couchiching. Because of the heavy rains, outflows from the Kawartha have been increased by about 20 cubic metres per second to bring the lakes down to their early summer levels.

Extendicare News

by Dr. W. O. Anderson

Finally the quilt came to the quilting stage, so Monday many of the neighbouring ladies made a try of it during which they must have each quilted a steady three hours, meanwhile having a pretty nice lunch served at tables set in the activity room by our Mary Currah, assisted by Pat Burk. Attending this were, Mrs. Carrie Drysdale, (incidentally contributing a crown of thorns plant for the Happy Gang to play with and for which we thank her), Mrs. Peck, Mrs. John Noble, Mrs. Aileen Robertson, Mrs. Gladys Dugan, Mrs. Lily Dugan, Mrs. Ina Bloomfield, Mrs. Earl McNeil, and Mrs. Pearl Schroeder. This means that this quilt will be a moment.

Another job we had was to air layer that tall dieffenbachia that sits in the left corridor coming in, simply because it was becoming so lanky that the ceiling was in its way. It seems we did it right.

We are also busy positioning the various plants in their pots in the summer beds and patio boxes, trying to get the best display we have had yet. In the boxes are marigolds, petunias, zinnias, nasturtiums, poppies, balsams, pansies, snap dragons, and a lone central geranium, but not allysum. We are reserving our allysum for the beds.

Tuesday's bingo is still quite an event, with Jake Gill calling and area ladies, Mrs. Kel Anderson, Mrs. Dorothy Davidson, Mrs. Betty Wise, Mrs. Dorothy Iles, Mrs. Verna Stringer as volunteer helpers for everyone to ensure that every number called misses no target. Of further interest this time was a cutting of the red violet, which Mrs. Wise brought to replace the one we had so healthy and then simply lost its vigour and died. Thanks Betty. But that was not all - she brought some bingo prizes.

a - thoughtful donation from Mrs. Phyllis Hodgson of figurines, a string of beads, some ear rings and a pair of cute little salt and pepper dispensers. Thank you kindly, Phyllis.

There are some interesting trees on the Extendicare landscape, mostly sapling maples that some day will dominate. If any coppice growth or shoots from the trunk occur we tend to try to preserve them as adding greatly to its beauty. Further, an oak seedling from an acorn given to us by Mr. Ray Hayward of the Royal Botanical Gardens of Hamilton, survived the heat and sun of the 1978 summer and the six feet of snow over it last winter and is a very healthy looking second year seedling with its big growth of leaves in abundance. This also makes a point, that if someone is kind enough to give us something no matter how trifling it seems, we sure latch onto it and are grateful.

Wednesday morning our Bible study group was led by Mrs. Jane Johnston with Mrs. June Devolin assisting. The theme was "Let not your heart be troubled" in the words of the master who promised to always be in reach of our voice in time of need. We sincerely thank these ladies for their great

Second minister chosen for northern pastoral region

Meeting at Trent University, Peterborough, the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada heard news of the appointment of a second area minister for its northern pastoral region. The Rev. Harold Davies who is presently serving Eastbrook United Church in Ottawa was introduced to the court. He will take up his position as one of two ministers appointed to give support and some supervision to northern rural congregations on July first, 1979. The Rev. Henry Getz whose appointment as the other member of the team took effect from January first, 1979, was also introduced to the delegates.

The appointments complete a move initiated some years ago to provide more adequate pastoral continuity and cohesion to a region suffering from rapid turnover of ordained personnel, and further weakened by its extremely scattered nature.

Five of the seven Presbyteries of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church are directly involved in the project with congregations active within the northern pastoral region.

Church to develop TV programs

The United Church of Canada has allocated $200,000 from special project and other miscellaneous sources for the development of television programming in Canada.

This information was presented to the 55th annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada meeting at Trent University, Peterborough. This is a pilot project of the United Church and discussion as to whether to use the money for T.V. "spots" or a more substantial program are underway.

Since the move will need support from across the United Church discussion on this issue will occupy the twelve conferences, and the Presbyteries within those conferences during the next few months.

The United Church of Canada's interest in the television medium is further evidenced by the increase in Television Awareness Training programs sponsored by the church. Such a program will be implemented within the Bay of Quinte Conference area. The use of video tape recorders has taken a leap forward in the churches of the Bay of Quinte Conference with the purchase of equipment for the use of Presbyteries and churches. Machines, playback units and cassette catalogues are being made available to United Church congregations.

to compete in regional and provincial tournaments. Excellence and competition, he felt, benefit all members of the club.

Along those lines, Squash Ontario, will be invited to Haliburton to put on clinics for players and referees. Coaching will be available to all club members.

Assisting the executive in 1979-80 will be Dave Chatfield - House League, Ken Rydman - Squash Ontario and Tournaments, Doug Hardy - Pop Machine and Betty Peragino - Social Events.

All those involved are looking forward to another successful and fun year.

By MARY KAI LUA

Cosmetic science has extracted a skin beauty substance from the bean of a tropical plant that works wonders by making rough, lined face and dry chapped hands look years younger fast. Use it tonight and you should see vast improvement in the morning. Many small lines around the eyes and mouth may already have disappeared and wrinkles you have given up as hopeless should start to vanish in a few days. But that isn't all. That discouraging weather-darkened old-age skin tone fades away. But don't take my word for it...use this exciting substance yourself for 7 days...satisfaction is guaranteed or return for refund. It's the tropical nut extract that works wonders for wrinkles and lines. It's called Cocorema Dry Skin Creme.

Senior League

by Linda English

Greetings again from Hyland Crest. Monday morning we began another week of activities with fun and fitness. We exercised our body to some old time banjo picking by Smiley Bates. Everyone was in good spirits and had a very good time.

After lunch, the ladies went to crafts and worked on their knitting with the help of our volunteers. Tea and cookies were served and a relaxing afternoon was enjoyed by all.

Monday evening several residents went to the auditorium to have a look at three very interesting movies. The first called "Land of Promise", was filmed in South Africa, a land which produces 77 per cent of the world's gold and vast amounts of uranium. It gave us a look at the animals and creatures in their natural habitat. Also we saw the country, and is one of the few countries that mint gold coins. All in all I feel that these were three very educational and interesting movies and when I asked the residents' opinions, they all felt that these were the best films they have seen in a long time.

The second movie, Scottish World Festival was filmed at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Lord and Lady MacDonald with the Duke of Argyle officially opened the exhibition where the Scots compete in their highland costumes for best dressed. The best from all over the world compete for intercontinental piper honours. This was truly a most enjoyable film.

The third movie called "We are Marching to Pritoria" was filmed in the arcaves capital of the South African Republic. It is a prospering country, and is one of the few countries that mint gold coins.

All in all I feel that these were three very educational and interesting movies and when I asked the residents' opinions, they all felt that these were the best films they have seen in a long time.

On Tuesday morning we went to the chapel to worship with Rev. Rosch from the Haliburton Pentecostal Church. He gave a lovely sermon and he and his wife said farewell to us as they are going to London, Ontario to minister there. We at Hyland Crest wish them much happiness and may God bless them both.

In the afternoon we had some fun games of bingo in the lounge with some of the staff stopping in to lend a hand.

New manager at Commerce

The Bank of Commerce has a new manager. Walton Prime, who has served with the bank for 13 years in various locations around Ontario, took over the position on May 22. He replaces John Schonhoffer, who was transferred to Peterborough.

Previous to his appointment in Haliburton, Mr. Prime served as senior assistant manager at the main branch in Peterborough. He also held managerial positions in three other branches around the city. He has also held positions with the Bank of Commerce in Oshawa, Sunderland, Georgetown, Wellsley, Keswick and Brockville.

Mr. Prime is 30 years old, and is a native of Digby, Nova Scotia. He has a wife, Lisbeth and two children. Mr. Prime is currently living on Mountain Street in Haliburton Village.

efforts on our behalf. The other day our eye was caught by an item on wild rice, a plant that is strictly not a rice. Buyers are paying over $10 a pound for this and a good picker can pick up to 5 pounds an hour. A 100 lb. bag would fetch $1000, not to be sneezed at. Where the beaver dam a tiny creek flooding maybe one to 50 acres to make a swamp, and when the forest debris is cleared away to make a six to 24 inch deep lake, it is perfect to grow this quite lucrative crop. It may be there are some people in the Haliburton area who are already doing this and whom we would like to make a special mention or if they would let us know. Should anyone think that this is a harebrained scheme (and that may mean everyone), then don't.

Again we were invited by the senior citizens of Haliburton to one of their famous pot luck dinners at the Dysart

Community Centre (hockey arena). There was a splendid attendance, later announced at 112 by Mr. Frank Hargreaves, acting for Emil Neimann, who is presently touring western Canada with his family. We think it is marvellous when we hear of Canadians travelling in Canada for adventure. To return to the dinner, we found it to be really sumptuous with even provision made for a second helping. Grace was said by Mr. Kenneth Stewart who in his own right is a Haliburton landmark, by being on hand when needed.

The Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce is to be commended by having a photograph of a rabbit on their May pictorial calendar. It is a remarkable creature, very deserving of the endearing name of bunny so often gets. It needs to be prolific to survive as it has, but by the same token, a pair do not make very popular house pets, but a single gets very lonesome.

Friday morning came to find us all in church but without a minister, or at least he did not show up. Resourceful Mrs. Pat Burk took it on herself to supply and ingeniously chose an item of great interest in a copy of Readers Digest, "Hard Noses In It" which outlined the remarkable interest taken by a Dr. Moses Coady in the plight of the fishermen of Nova Scotia in the days before the labour movement, when the fishermen of Nova Scotia were at the mercy of the fish market, a very distressing state of affairs as you can imagine. It was indeed an ideal topic for a sermon. Thank you very much Mrs. Burk.

The flower carts are now gradually becoming empty. Many of the flower pots went to plant the patio boxes and alcove bed, making them even now reasonably attractive, but wait until they are in full bloom. The border of the big bed is done but without a few plants being put here and there within the bed there may be noticeable spaces.

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunder

Everyone who didn't visit the display of art and crafts in Coboconk Community hall on Monday, May 28 and Tuesday, May 29, missed seeing the talents of many of our local people.

The New Horizons group had an interesting array of crafts such as seed pictures, stuffed animals and dolls, knitted and crocheted baby clothes, sweaters, shawls, hats, etc., glass bead articles, quilts, rugs, leather work, needlepoint, dried flower arrangements and others. There were two tables of recycled items, the Norland Horticultural Society had a floral display, Jean Neath had her driftwood on view, Coboconk Public School showed several articles of clothing made in its sewing classes as well as handwork and macrame hangings done by the students. Burnt River Public School was well represented with its crafts as were the Norland Women's Institute members.

Gloria Cameron was at the hall Monday evening with a small loom at which she was busy weaving yet another article to add to her handwoven collection of things that were there. Knitting, smocking, quilts and other handicrafts were displayed by Coboconk Legion Ladies Auxiliary.

Upstairs in the hall our artists had been busy and their paintings were on view for all to admire. Around the walls down in the library, the area public schools also had samples of students' art hung. The students visited the community hall on Tuesday afternoon and were entertained by the Burnt River Choral and Recorder groups and they enjoyed the Coboconk Library Puppeteers' performance of "The Elves and the Shoemaker".

At the Legion hall, Brian and Sharon Smart conducted a dance workshop for the students who performed later Tuesday evening in a special dance program with Club Loreley Youth Dancers of Oshawa.

Special merit awards were pinned on Maude White's hooked rug, Madge Morris' cross stitched quilt, Lisa Hannivan's two piece vest and skirt ensemble, all from Coboconk and Mike Puterbaugh's artwork from Norland Public School. There will be a showing in September in Lindsay Library of all of the articles with special merit awards from this year's Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts.

All interested horticulturists please note that the Norland Horticultural Society will present its second flower show in Norland community hall on Saturday, June 23 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Admission is .75 cents and includes refreshments. There is no entry fee and each class is open to all exhibitors but only one entry per class. Entries must be made on Friday, June 22 between 7:00 and 8:30 p.m. and exhibitors must supply their own containers. The classes of cut flowers include iris, pansies, violas, delphinium, lilies, peonies, lupines, sweet william and begonias. Single and double violets, geraniums, coleus and cactus are the house plant classes with 7 theme arrangements. If you would like to enter one or more classes and require details, please contact Rotha Bryant at Norland post office and pick up a classification list.

Township firemen answered a fire call to Uphill on Saturday, May 26 about 10:45 p.m. Several parts of the Uphill store, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Cole were badly gutted as the firemen fought the blaze for about three hours. No one was in the store at the time smoke was noticed by a neighbour who alerted the Cardin and Laxton, Digby, Longford fire departments.

On Tuesday, May 29, some of the township firemen attended the mutual aid meeting held in Kirkfield. The speaker had slides to show his audience the types and kinds of labelling of hazardous and inflammable products that are transported on our highways and railroads. Because there are so many more of these products being conveyed, Ontario is drafting new laws to govern the labelling.

The sun shone and the day was warm and pleasant for the Norland Public School. Track and field day on Wednesday, May 30. Overall senior boys and girls winners were David Graham and Melody Nicholls. Robbi Landry and Beth Potter were intermediate winners and in junior class, Darryl Landry and Colleen Janke. Vincent Eason and Kelly Nicholls were the top boy and girl in the primary class. All could not be winners but to know that you did your best; that is the main thing.

Our best wishes to Helen Reid, daughter of Brigadier General and Mrs. A. M. Reid of RR 1, Coboconk who became the bride of Kevin Ryall, son of Bruce Ryall, Lakeside Park, Shadow Lake on Saturday, June 2 in Norland United Church at 11:00 a.m. Afterwards the guests and bridal party enjoyed a luncheon reception at the McKenzie House, Kirkfield. Following their marriage and honeymoon, Helen who is the area public health nurse and Kevin will reside at Lakeside Park.

At the last minute, Mr. Nickol of Haliburton, Kawartha Pine Ridge District Health Unit was unable to attend the special meeting in the United Church hall on May 31 to discuss proper and safe food preparation. Mr. Timmins of the same department, graciously replaced him. He showed the interested men and women a film entitled "Food for Thought" and a slide presentation called "Food - Handle With Care". Both stressed that all perishable food should be kept at 4 degrees C. (40 degrees F. - usual refrigerator temperature) or 60 degrees C. (140 degrees F. - almost boiling) to keep it from spoiling. Mr. Timmins during the question and answer that followed, said that there is no immediate legislation being planned to change kitchen facilities in churches and halls that cater to the public.

A Brownies bottle drive was held on Saturday afternoon in Haliburton, and these three enthusiastic girls were doing the stacking. Packing the bottles away are, from left to right, Heather Creelman, 9, Melissa Creelman, 9, and Robin Sisson, 10. The day got a little warm, but the girls said they didn't mind the work.

The Festival of the Arts is over and the event was a lot of hard work for those involved. However, I'm sure it was well worth the effort! The event began with a parade down Main St. to the Legion hall and a children's service at the Legion hall. Tuesday evening there was a Tiny Tots Fashion Show at the Legion hall. The outfits were made from recycled clothing and were proof that out-grown or no longer fashionable styles can be made useful. The Loreley Youth Dancers from Oshawa under the direction of Brian and Sharon Smart were fun and entertaining. The Monday and Tuesdays were display days at the community hall, when a lot of "crafters" showed their wares. There are many talented crafters in the area, as the varied displays proved. The Saturday night puppet show was a highlight for kiddies and adults alike. The Deckhands presented "The Stolen Tarts" and "Mrs. Goodieps Garden". It was very, very funny, and delightful.

The teachers' dinner was held in the Legion hall on Wednesday night with the Ladies Auxiliary catering. George Callan is out of hospital and slowly improving. The Gulf gas station is open for business after several months of being closed.

Stanhope Notes

A. F. Stevenson

Stanhope Township has been sponsored by the Ministry of Culture and Recreation to set up a volunteer assistance centre for its senior citizens. The plan calls for a volunteer response from those who may be interested in giving a bit of assistance to those who may need it. Since it is a pilot project, its success and permanent establishment (centrally located within the county) depends largely on the volunteer response. Kim Gorveatt, one of Stanhope's very capable young citizens, is heading up the project and is quite busy planning a program of services for senior citizens which could be provided by volunteers wishing to assist with the program. Discussing the program with Kim, she states that there are many ways that some seniors can be assisted ranging from lawn cutting to letter writing. Anyone interested in further information should contact Kim Gorveatt at 489-2379, Stanhope Township office.

As indicated in this column last week, Stanhope Tennis Courts are now going to be a reality, thanks to a grant from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation in the amount of $8,979. This sum, together with money raised by the Recreation Committee through public support, and further aided by pledges of assistance now make it possible to contact the contractor and, hopefully, get the job started. There will be two doubles courts but there will not be lights for the first year and this item can be considered for next year. Now is the time for organizing a tennis club and in view of the fact that the tennis enthusiasts were by far the greatest number who indicated their interest in a recreational facility in the township, it may be assumed that there will be a good number of interested citizens who will wish to participate in developing this sport. Much can be done by a club in the way of obtaining grants to assist in acquiring equipment and improvements to the courts.

Readers are reminded of the big weekend at the airport June 9 - 10, and while the big attraction will be on Sunday, the committee state that there will be much of interest on Saturday when aircraft will be arriving and rehearsals will be going on. Refreshment booths will be open both days and the big beef barbecue will be held on Sunday. Tickets for the Saturday night dance are going well and information can be obtained by calling the airport office; that is the Stanhope-Haliburton Airport. The committee working on the special day for Stanhope have been busy on plans and a program of events is being rounded out for the day which will be held August 18. All township committees will be involved in conducting the activities which will include a horseshoe pitching tournament, a dog show, an art and craft display, a bake sale, a senior citizens tea, a foam demonstration and equipment display by the fire department, a children's play and also a puppet show. At night there will be a dance in the fire hall, while there will be a bonfire and singing outside for those wishing to enjoy that. Efforts are being made to have the O.P.P. bring the trained police dog and put on a demonstration, something which is always a favourite with those who have seen this dog at work.

The official name for the day will be decided by school students who are invited to submit their choice of a name and mail it no later than June 18 to "Name the Day", Stanhope Township office, RR 1, Haliburton or bring your entry to the office. First prize is $10.00 and second prize is $5.00.

The purpose of the day is to enable the public to see what has been accomplished with the aid of funds from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation together with funds raised by public support for the efforts of the volunteer committees.

The expenses of the day will be met by fund generated from the bake sale and the concessions, and any surplus will go into a fund to provide for bigger and better annual day next year - for it is the hope of the committee that their efforts this year will be so successful that the event will become an annual one.

Mrs. Gwen Hughes' grade one class were one of the many fine acts presented by Victoria Street Public School students at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School on Friday. About 150 persons attended the annual spring festival, which saw some 15 performances by different students and classes. At the end, the entire group of students presented a two song finale, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended.

A thoughtful gesture observed on election day deserves a bouquet. Four delicious hot lunches arrived for the workers at the polls, courtesy of Legge's Restaurant.

The firehall has been fitted with three new roll-up doors. The firemen have recently purchased two of the latest lightweight Scott air packs. This equipment is used to supply oxygen while fighting fires.

Bingo fans will be delighted to hear that bingo games will commence again on June 7. As usual they will be held every Thursday at eight o'clock in the Watson Memorial Centre.

The bingo games are run by the firemen on a voluntary basis. Al Revell is the popular caller.

Approximately 50 people attended the mother and daughter banquet on Monday, May 28, at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre. This marked the last meeting of the season for the Girl Guides and the Brownies. It was a very festive occasion and everyone enjoyed an evening of fun. A fine meal brought by the mothers proved a great success. This part of the program was organized by Ruth Hopwood, Eileen Agnew and Katie Whitefield. Then came the presentation of badges and service stars. Of great interest at this time was a hand-worked baby quilt made by seven of the guides and given to Mary Barker, one of the leaders, for her infant son Luke. Five of the Brownies then took part in a fly-up to Guides; a very important step. The evening finished with a dance and a fashion show in which there was a demonstration of clothing suitable for Girl Guide Camp. When the girls assembled once again next September something new will take place. A new age grouping will be in effect. Brownies will be accepted in ages six to nine. Guides will be from nine to 12 and a new group that will be known as the Pathfinders will take in girls 12 to 15.

Sincere sympathy to the relatives of the late Eddie Earle, long time resident of this area; also the the Marshall family for the loss of brother Bob and to Mrs. Owen Mitchell whose brother Herbert Watson has passed away.

Roller skating in the Wilberforce arena has begun for the summer months. Bring your skates or rent a pair and enjoy the fun. Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evening from seven till ten.

"Life itself can't give you joy unless you really will it, life just gives you time and space, it's up to you to fill it."

Recent visitors at the home of Hector and Marcella McKay were Allan and Thelma Hammerland of Minnesota, Gunter and Dorothy Thase and family of Thornhill, Eugene and Dorothy McCann of Barrie and Henry and Rosemary Shuler and family of Mississauga. Marcella's sister Helen and husband John Glenn of Niagara Falls spent the weekend with Marcella and Hector. Janet Green, Earl McKay and daughter Lianne, Susan McKay and friend Terry Brady, all enjoyed the Huntsville High School anniversary weekend. Don and Janet Green and son Shane of Britannia Rd., Darryl and Wanda Ford of Scotia and John and Darlene Potter of Dwight spent Sunday with Hector and Marcella.

The Dorset fire department wish to thank all those that made their big roast a huge success. They put on a delicious meal with the pork, roast turkey and lots of extras in the way of vegetables, salads, etc. The pig they barbequed weighed 142 pounds, and the barbeque machine was an innovation of Ron Payne's with the help of some of the other firemen. It is thermostatically controlled and the pig was cooked for 12 hours at a constant temperature. I can say from experience that it was delicious.

During the evening Ron was presented with a deep sea fishing rod and reel by his crew. There were some ceramic pieces donated by Leon and Joyce McKay, a decanter and glasses won by John Thompson and a beer stein won by Tim Brazier.

The variety night at the public school drew a large crowd. They had a little bit of everything; games, bingo, a white elephant area and an excellent puppet show put on by Sue, John and Paul Hudspath of Willowdale. The proceeds of the evening were to help pay for their gym equipment. There were several nice door prizes awarded, one of which I was lucky enough to receive.

The Rangers, Guides and Brownies are holding their annual banquet in the Dorset Community Centre on Friday, June 8 at 6:30 p.m. All of their groups in the Muskoka-Parry Sound district are holding a rally in Bracebridge on Saturday, June 9.

We are sorry to report a death of one of our residents. Cal Arbuckle passed away on Friday, June 1. He was a patient in a Toronto hospital.

Kerry Lynn Riley

Kerry Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Riley of Essonville will graduate from Guelph University with a B. Sc. degree. The ceremonies will take place June 8, 1979. Miss Riley will be entering veterinary college at Guelph in September.

Here we are into the merry month of June, and what lovely weather. The gardens are dry enough to plant. Yes, some of mine is in. The windows can be opened for when you clean, the flowers can be put outside. Now if that June frost was over one could say we are into summer. Days such as we have had will give one a good tan or burn. May too much rain now be over, so the sun will warm up the earth and make things grow.

Karen and Michael Bibeau and baby Christopher of Port Perry visited with Karen's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Kernohan last week. When you buy new candles and they do not fit your

Mrs. Ada Lewis visited friends, Evelyn Hammond of Prescott and Helen Buttior of Peterborough last week.

The L.O.B.A. held their last car party until fall on May 28. Lone hand winner was Pearl Cowen. Other winners at euchre were Edna Trumbull, Teresa Coulter, Lyman Cox, George Hewitt.

Ellen Barton of Oakville spent the weekend with friends and relatives in the village.

The A.C.W. quilt in the window of Cox Apparel store will be drawn for on July 21. If you have not a ticket yet be sure and get one for it is a lovely quilt.

Gerald Coulter of Toronto visited with his parents over the weekend.

They tell me that catsup is great for removing tarnish from the bottom of copper pans. I haven't tried it for I have no copper pans, but it is worth a try.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sears and Mrs. Vivian LaPlant, all of West Hill, also Miss Sandra Sears of Toronto, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sears over the weekend.

Mrs. Jim Beattie is home after spending some time with relatives in Toronto.

If you have to drain greasy foods, use paper bags, not paper towels. Why? Because the dyes used in towels have not been tested for food safety. Even the white towels have been dyed white.

Have you ever wondered what to do with the bacon drippings? Well, here is a recipe for Crisp Bacon Cookies; and the kids love them. 1/2 cup bacon drippings; 1 cup brown sugar; 1 egg; 2 tbsps. orange juice; 1 tsp. grated orange peel; 1 tsp. vanilla; 2 cups all purpose flour; 2 tsp. baking powder; 1/4 tsp. salt; 1/4 tsp. cinnamon; 3/4 cup finely chopped raisins. Pre-heat oven to 375 degrees F. Lightly grease a cookie sheet with bacon drippings. Cream 1/2 cup bacon drippings and brown sugar; beat in egg, orange juice, peel and vanilla; sift together dry ingredients and blend into brown sugar mixture with raisins; chill dough 15 to 20 minutes; roll into small balls, about an inch in diameter; place on prepared cookie sheet, press flat with bottom of glass dipped in flour; bake in preheated oven for 8 minutes or until edges are crisp; makes about 5 dozen cookies.

The judging has been done for the Women's Institute school prizes. The judges were Rheta Brown, Anne Dawson, Thelma Ewing, Jeanne Sears of the Minden W.I. The winners were: Category 1 - Kindergarten to Grade 2 - 1st, Michelle Potter (G.I.) 2nd, Kelli Dollo (2a) 3rd, Robbie Ackersblade (K). Category 2 - Grades 3 and 4 - 1st, Tyna Hie (3), 2nd, Teresa Andras (3), 3rd, Stephanie O'Brien (4a). Category 3 - Grades 5 and 6 (creative writing) - 1st, Kelly Sawyer (G6), 2nd, Melanie Legge (G5), 3rd, Shelley Barnes (G6). Category 4 - Grades 7 and 8 - 1st, Tim Wood (model G8), 2nd, Louise Newton (G8), 3rd, Rick McGee (model G8).

On May 30 at 7 a.m. the men and women who went on the W.I. bus trip climbed aboard the TravelWays bus, after saying hello to bus driver Len Foster. The bus, which held 47 people, was full, and everyone was in fine spirits even if the morning was foggy. By the time Highway 35 had been left at Cobocok the sun was out and all enjoyed the zigzag way over to 401, then down to the Queen E., which was followed to the Erland Lee home on Stoney Creek. This was the first home of the W.I. and is maintained by the Women's Institutes of Ontario.

After lunch at a plaza, the trip continued to the Wentworth County Pioneer Village. There everyone had a chance to wander up and down the streets, buying things at the old country store, peaking in the old homes and sitting in the old locomotive. I saw two old church buildings, well kept they were. The one that most enticed me was the log Methodist Church from the Six Nation Reserve, as I had not seen it in over 45 years, and had no idea where it had gone. After relaxing with a cup of tea or a pop at the tearoom, and buying the souvenir of our choice, we all climbed back on the bus for the trip to the African Lion Safari, where there were many animals to see. As we were in the bus there was no trouble about opening windows. One of the baboons hitched a ride on the top of the bus, after giving us all the once over and when we drove to another section the bus had to stop so the keeper could get the baboon off the top.

Upon leaving the reserve area the bus stopped so that

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harrison are convalescing after eye surgery and will move this week to the house, overlooking Twelve Mile Lake and formerly owned by the late John and Lizzie Harrison. The house has had a face-lift, under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Allcorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harrison have had as their guest, Mrs. Florence James of Sudbury.

Mr. and Mrs. George Christian recently entertained all their Canadian friends who spend the winters at Fort Meyer's Beach, Florida.

Friends of Mrs. Muriel Brown were pleased to see her at church on Sunday. Muriel has been spending a week with Doug and Clare Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Tompkins visited Laurel's brother and his wife in Honey Harbour this week.

Bill McKay and family spent a week at their cottage in northern Ontario. Max McKay has returned from a fishing trip while Anne visited with friends.

The store, formerly owned by the Elliots, is now called The Four Seasons Country Store and has been purchased by Fred and Nancy Chapple. We welcome them to the community.

The store, known as the Farmer's Market last year, is now run by Mr. Blakey, who has had experience in the meat business. He also carries a good line of groceries. We believe that the Foster store has also changed ownership.

Mrs. Elgin Stouffer has been in Newfoundland, owing to her mother's serious illness.

The slides, shown by Morley Johnson of Ecuador, were very interesting. The military had taken over the mission so a new one had to be built.

Elvin Johnson and Bob McBrien were down last winter helping to build a new compound and we were shown the wood taken from the bush to the mill and then the construction of the buildings. Morley also told of the flora and fauna of the region.

Miss Carrie Cowan and Mrs. Muriel Hewitt are again at their summer cottages.

Mrs. Jack Barnhart is convalescing after surgery.

Hi folks! Here we are in June already.

The town was sure busy the past week. The Art Festival featured special events all week. Wednesday there was a puppet show and workshop held at the community hall. Saturday afternoon a Walt Disney film "Dumbo and the Flying Elephant", and at the fairgrounds all day Saturday and Sunday, an arts and crafts show, demonstration and sale, with over 50 booths featuring gift wrapping, Chinese cooking, batik, woodwork, antiques, blacksmith, gunsmith, knitting, crochet work, sewing, quilting, spinning, cake decorations. Everything was just beautiful. Saturday night there was a dance and buffet at the Legion hall with Harvie and the Harvesters putting on the music.

Last Thursday was installation of officers in a joint service for the Ladies Auxiliary and the Legion members. Special visitors were Phyllis and Joe Montemiglio of Lindsay, Mr. Doug Worall and Mr. Bill Dermity and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Welch of Lindsay. The evening was enjoyed by all with a buffet lunch served by the ladies and refreshments by the men. Everyone danced to the music of our own "Albert Crego", disc jockey of the evening.

The Taylor boys, Phillip, Vaughn, and Dwight of Burnt River have been in Calgary looking for jobs.

Dwain and Keith Bacon were home visiting their mother Joyce Bacon over the weekend.

Leon and Penny Hartin have returned from their vacation.

Orville Cooper family have arrived home after a three week trip.

When in town drop in for coffee at Kinvale and have a look at what the town used to be like. Mr. Franzen has pictures dating back to the early 1900's. It is really hard to believe the changes time and fire can make.

Mr. Cecil Graham of Irondale won $22, in the 50-50 last Saturday at Legion 441.

Robert Zeus was in town last week. He does not like it in Florida and hitch-hiked back. He will be living with his brother Pat in Lindsay.

Albert Crego and Vi Willard have spent a few days in North Bay visiting with Vi's son who is stationed there with the Air Force.

That's all for this week. Cheerio for now.

Congratulations to the Parkers, pastor of Trinity Full Gospel church, on the arrival of a baby boy this past week.

This is ideal gardening weather and I hope you have yours planted! If only the mosquitos weren't so plentiful! It must be spring fever! I just can't dig up as much news as I'd like!

Several ladies journeyed to visit Barbara McDonald on Thursday, since she and husband Neil moved on Friday to their newly purchased home at Oakwood. We wish them happiness in the Village of Oakwood.

abrasive and beleaguered countries in the world, Israel, for a few years.

Even the ultra-chauvinist (male) Brits have elected their first female prime minister in history, and there's evidence that she'll do no worse, if no better, than her male predecessors. Maggie Thatcher.

Of course, the Brits brought up on the idea of a Nannie, respond well to a female boss. Elizabeth the First was probably their favorite monarch of all time - the Virgin Queen. Victoria established an era named after her:

morals, manners, hang-ups. Elizabeth II is a model of decorum, good sense, and hard work, vastly admired despite the attacks of a few anti-monarchists.

Back to the point. Where was Women's Lib when the election campaign began? Leaders of all parties were males. At least as far as plumbing goes.

Is Canada a pale shadow of the U.S., where the thought of a female president would turn half a nation white overnight? Surely not. Then how explain the sound of silence from les dames de notre pays?

I just don't understand it. We males are harped at, and nagged at, and giggled at. And when the women have their big chance, what do they do? They make coffee and sandwiches.

If women could get organized, politically, they'd have more vote power than all the farmers, unions, fishermen, and all the other groups the polls court so assiduously. Quirky, isn't it?

From personal experience, with sisters, a mother, a wife, a mother-in-law, a daughter, and various female acquaintances, I know, absolutely, that women could run this country far better than men. They are less sentimental, physically tougher, morally more integral, emotionally more compassionate, financially more able. At least my women are.

They are less concerned with making everybody happy. They go to the point, rather than around it. They probe. Oh, how they probe, into sensitive areas that most weak males skirt.

They are much better at organizing their time. None of these three-martini, three-hour lunches, at which nothing is settled except that everybody's a jolly good fellow. They'd probably open government offices at 8 a.m., which would immediately solve the problem of a swollen civil service. Half the incumbents would drop dead within a week.

They have a nasty habit of insisting that things be done: done right, and done right away. This too, would create, almost overnight, a new Canada.

They will fight like tigresses to look after their own. If we had a dominantly-female government, they'd probably hang on to the few industries Canada still controls, and bare-facedly demand from foreigners that they give the others back.

And what a blessing to have them in Ottawa, running the country, and letting our weaker sex get on with a bit of golf, fishing, hunting.

Know who I'd like to have seen running the election? Flora MacDonald, Maureen McTeer, and Margaret Trudeau. With no men allowed to vote. And no holds barred.

Recycle It!

The lowly bread fastener has two or three uses to consider. The stiff plastic ones make a handy scraper to remove cooked on food from pots and pans. They also will hold infant socks together in pairs when encircling the thin section of the ankle. The serrated plastic garbage bag ties can be wrapped around large pairs of socks to keep them together through the wash and dry cycle or on the clothes line. If you join the socks before placing them in the clothes hamper, the whole task of pairing socks will be eliminated.

Another washing tip for clothes line use in cold weather is to soak clothes pins in a salt brine. This prevents clothes pins from freezing to your garments on the line.

Wednesday morning we had our regular fun and fitness program.

In the afternoon we filled the bus and went to the Kinmount Community Centre to watch the Brick Puppet Show. It was a nice change, and the rain held off until we got back home. Everyone enjoyed the outing.

Thursday afternoon the ladies from Gooderham Pentecostal Church arrived to serve at the birthday tea party. They brought a beautifully decorated birthday cake and a lovely assortment of sandwiches and goodies.

Birthdays celebrated this month were as follows: Irene

Stewart, May 4; Ida Schell, May 10; Marjorie Kanally, May 11; Mary Grozelle, May 23 and Henry Robinson, May 8.

These residents were presented with corsages of carnations and white daisies. The Kinsmen members came on Thursday evening to call the bingo numbers. Several of our residents look forward to Thursday night bingo and we thank the Kinsmen for making it an enjoyable evening.

Friday morning we had our fun and fitness in the morning and Mrs. Colburne led our sing-song in the afternoon, bringing to a close another week of activity at Hyland Crest.

Haliburton residents receive Trent degrees

Two Haliburton residents were among 600 people who received degrees, Friday, June 1, when Trent University held its 20th convocation. Maureen O'Hara and Kenneth Allen Pettigrew both received Bachelor of Arts degrees during the ceremonies.

Folksinger Gordon Lightfoot was one of four distinguished Canadians who received honorary degrees from Trent at the convocation. The three others were Mary Northway of Toronto, noted for her studies in child psychology and pioneer work in the camping movement in Canada; Kenneth Hare, Geographer-environmentalist and provost of Trinity College, Toronto; and Harry Williams, a high school teacher who is an internationally recognized botanist.

we could look for more keepsakes of our trip. Finally it was back on the bus for supper at a Ponderosa Steakhouse. What a meal we had. Then we headed for home, arriving back in Minden at 10:30 p.m. The last words I heard as I headed up the street were "when is the next bus trip and where are we going"; so I guess everyone enjoyed the trip.

New Grant Program

Details of the Ontario Farm Productivity Incentive Program have now been released by the Hon. William Newman, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture and Food. This program, which was announced in the Speech from the Throne in February, is the successor to the old Capital Grant Program which ended in March.

The Farm Productivity Incentive Program will provide grants to qualifying farmers for soil management projects and for certain production facilities.

To be eligible, a farmer must live in Ontario, and he must either own or lease the land on which the improvement is to be made. The gross agricultural income from the farm must be at least $8,000 for the 12 month period preceding the application.

Partnerships and corporations are eligible, with the maximum grant being the same as for individuals.

In the soil management category, there are 3 sections of eligible projects. The first includes erosion control devices such as grassed waterways and terraces. The second section is manure storage systems for both liquid and dry manure. The third section is for alternate livestock watering facilities which will protect the quality of adjacent watercourses.

Grants will cover 40 percent of the eligible expenditures, with a maximum of $1,500 for the erosion control and alternate watering sections, and a maximum of $3,000 for the manure storage section. The maximum aggregate grant for all sections to any farm is $3,000.

In the production facilities category all beginning farmers are eligible. Also, any farmer who did not use the full $3,000 available under the old Capital Grant, may qualify for the unused portion of that amount.

clude the construction of new barns for dairy or beef cattle, hogs, sheep or poultry; milk houses; grain and feed storage facilities; and silos. Also included are new buildings to house fur-bearing animals, fruit and vegetable storages, greenhouses, mushroom houses, tobacco kilns and maple syrup structures. In addition, tile drainage is eligible under this category.

The grants in this category cover 40 percent of the eligible costs to a maximum of $3,000.

The Farm Productivity Incentive Program began in April and will run for five years - until March 31, 1984. Since the funds available for these grants are limited to any one year, farmers planning to participate in the program will be required to complete a "Notice of Intent" form before they start construction.

Brochures giving the full details of eligible projects and the application procedures will be available at the Lindsay Agricultural Office in a week.

Ministry expects normal fire year

The Ministry of Natural Resources has prepared for what its provincial fire centre staff in Sault Ste. Marie predicts will be a normal forest fire season - 1,200 to 1,500 outbreaks.

Aviation and fire management people do not expect any problems until at least May, when the weather warms up, according to Natural Resources Minister James A.C. Auld.

By mid-May, the ministry will have 145 trained five-man unit fire crews and an air attack fleet of 35 Beaver, Otter and Tracker aircraft in place and ready.

As backup support, the ministry is also contracting aerial detection aircraft, helicopters and heavy water bombers.

The ministry will also continue to fine-tune its experimental lightning strike detector-locator system which covers northwestern Ontario.

The system - a position analyzer and high-speed print-out machine hooked up to two antennas located at Sioux Lookout and Kenora - detects lightning strikes and locates and plots them to within a mile. It was used to plot more than 20,000 cloud-to-ground strikes last summer in the Kenora-Rainy River Districts.

Fifty per cent of the fires west of Thunder Bay each year are ignited by lightning. Auld said that while a normal season is anticipated, the final outcome largely rests with people.

32. IN MEMORIAM

MINAKER - In loving memory of my dear husband, Harvey (Pat) who passed away June 10, 1976.

Your face is always before me
A voice I would love to hear
Wishing God could have spared you
Many more happy years.

Thinking of the thoughtful things
That you have said and done
And loving you a little more
"dear Pat".
For each and everyone.

The flowers that are placed upon your grave
Are a symbol of our love
Trusting God will keep you safe
Who dwells in Heaven above.

Remembered with deepest love, Annie. 32-B-6 present facilities are strained to the limit. These brand new quarters will be a very welcome addition for both staff and shoppers alike.

Further west of Wilberforce and about a mile off the highway on Earles Road near Lake Wilbermere we visited "Northwood Nursery". Here Greg and Patricia Brooking for the past two years have been developing a very complete greenhouse and nursery complex. Greg and Patricia come from the Oshawa-Bowmanville area and Greg has a very complete horticultural background. This is evident in the high quality stock he is raising in this picturesque valley in the highlands. Drop in and see them.

In Minden we met Jack Brezina who is the new owner and publisher of the Minden Times. Jack comes to us from Cochrane, Ontario where he has had an extensive newspaper background. To Jack and all folks involved in these new ventures in the Wilberforce area, we wish all kinds of future prosperity and we urge you the public to do business with them and help make it happen.
